

Guided Rappels

After being setup by the first person down, a guided rappel is great for getting the remainder of the team down when there is a dangerous or problem area directly below the anchor.

